LEADING OFF THE STARTING POINT

Once again, we witness a familiar cycle --- harm occurs, voices rise and justice feels delayed or denied. While the details change, the pattern remains. From an equity lens, repeated injustice points to systemic failure, not isolated moments. When accountability is postponed, inequity deepens. Time is not neutral --- delay often protects power while prolonging harm. At One Step At A Time, we believe change begins with intentional action, not statements alone. The question is no longer “Are we aware?” but “What will we do differently?” Justice is not a single decision --- it is a daily practice. And changing the story starts with one deliberate step toward accountability, dignity, and equity.
